47th Annual Liturgical Music Service Friday, December 7

This year's Liturgical Music Service on Friday evening, December 7th at 8 p.m. will commemorate the 100th yahrzeit of Salomon Sulzer, the legendary Viennese cantor considered to be the father of the modern synagogue service, whose influence continues to be felt in Orthodox, Conservative, and Reform synagogue services to the present time.

Cantor David Lefkowitz has planned a service which will reflect the grandeur and dignity that Sulzer brought to the cantorate. Abraham Kaplan will conduct the Park Avenue Synagogue Concert Choir, with Neil Robinson at the organ.

This Liturgical Music Service is being held in conjunction with the Jewish Theological Seminary as part of a weekend long series of events marking Sulzer's 100th yahrzeit. Observances are being planned in Hungary and England as well.

The Friday evening Liturgical Music Service will be sponsored by the Zella and Jack Butler Liturgical Music Service Memorial Fund.

"Staying Vital In The '90s: Preventive Medicine For Women" Topic of W.E.G. Program Monday, November 19

Recognizing the importance of preventive medicine, and as a service to its members and the women of our congregation and community, the Women's Evening Group will be planning a series of annual programs on women's health issues entitled "Staying Vital in the '90s: Preventive Medicine For Women." These programs will provide the most up-to-date information available on health topics of concern to women.

The first program in this series will address the issue of cancer prevention for women. It will take place on Monday evening, November 19th at 8 p.m. Two medical experts from Lenox Hill Hospital, Dr. Ian Van Praagh and Dr. Lynn Ratner, will speak and answer questions. Dr. Van Praagh, a specialist in Obstetrics and Gynecology, will discuss why early detection is so important and the need for women to have regular Papp tests. Dr. Ratner, an Internist and Oncologist, will discuss the importance of mammograms as tools in the early detection of breast cancer.

Printed material will be available and there will be an extensive question and answer period after their presentations.

As usual, there will be the opportunity to have refreshments and socialize both before the program, at 7:30 p.m., as well as after the program.

Then, on Monday evening, December 17th, the seventh night of Hanukkah, the Women's Evening Group will hold a Hanukkah Supper Party at the home of Rabbi and Susan Lincoln. In addition, the group's special guest will be Assistant Cantor Alisa Pomerantz-Boro who will lead a Hanukkah Song Fest. All guests will be asked to bring a gift for the Hanukkah Grab Bag. This event will be for members only.

So be sure to join W.E.G. so you don't miss-out on this exciting, fun-filled evening!

From The Rabbi's Desk

Just before the present crisis in Kuwait, I received the following account from London, written by a friend of Iraqi origin. It seems that the dictator Saddam Hussein does not treat his small Jewish population too badly in spite of his great hatred for Israel.

"We are no longer persecuted, although we are not allowed to leave with any property, just like other citizens," a recent visitor to Baghdad was told by members of the Jewish community. It now numbers about 180 persons, mainly elderly, living in Baghdad and in rather strained circumstances. Before the mass aliya to Israel in the early fifties, the community with its 2500-year old history dating back to Babylonian times numbered about 150,000 and now a pitiful remnant is left behind."

"However, the community recently disposed of communal property and from the considerable proceeds of sale, suitably invested, giving an income of two million dinars a year, its needy members receive substantial monthly social security payments."

"The only synagogue functioning is the Meir Tweg Synagogue and a minyan is mustered for Shabbat and the Holy Days. It is administered by a Council, the chairman of which is Mr. Reuben Elias. There is a volunteer shohet who by profession is an engineer, whose services to the war effort were recently acknowledged. So kosher meat and fowl are available to the community. Some of its members are in the professions and others are small businessmen, though most are now retired."

"During the 8 year war with Iran, in which over a million Iraqis and Iranians died, Baghdad was shelled frequently and some of the rockets landed dangerously close to the areas where Jews resided. After the siege of Basra by the Iranians, the small number of Jews there left for Baghdad. They are free to travel abroad, but they return to Baghdad for family and financial reasons."

"The historic shrines such as those of Ezra the Scribe..., Joshua the High Priest..., and the Prophet Ezekiel, to which pilgrimages were made before the mass emigration, are still occasionally visited and are maintained in good order, together with the cemetery in New Baghdad."

"The government is restoring the ancient site of Babylon—about fifty miles from Baghdad—for tourist purposes at immense cost. But the property that was confiscated in the early fifties—both communal and individual—during the mass emigration, has now been totally absorbed into the government's general assets. The Community is now attached to the Ministry of Awqaf (Religious Endowments)."

"The great saga of Babylonian Jewry is expected to end in a few short years."

—Rabbi David H. Lincoln

From The White House

Dear Rabbi Lincoln:

Thank you for your warm and thoughtful message regarding the situation in the Persian Gulf.

I am heartened by the widespread support of the American people for the efforts to enforce United Nations sanctions aimed at bringing about a withdrawal of Iraqi troops from Kuwait and restoration of Kuwait's independence. I am also encouraged by the number of other countries—including Arab nations—that have joined the international effort to defend Saudi Arabia against aggression.

Your kind words mean a great deal to me, and I appreciate your support.

Sincerely,
George Bush

Life As A Sports Commentator Topic of Men's Club Brunch November 4

What is life really like for a sports commentator-writer? How does one become a sports writer? What is it like to be a Jew in the sports world?

If you have ever asked yourself these and other questions about someone in such a position, come to the Men's Club Brunch on Sunday, November 4 at 11 a.m. to find out what life is really like for sports writer and commentator Frank Brown of the Daily News.

Frank Brown, the son of Mrs. Miriam Brown, a member of Park Avenue Synagogue, was educated, religiously, bar mitzvahed, and married at Park Avenue Synagogue. And yet, somehow, he made it into the world of sports. How did that come about?

Interested? Of course! So come and bring your friends and sons (or daughters, too, if they're into sports) to the Men's Club Brunch.

Please call the synagogue office to make your reservations since this is a possible sell-out. There will be no charge for Men's Club members and their sons/daughters (under 18 years of age) or new Park Avenue Synagogue members; $7 for all other persons.

This gala function is the highlight of Sisterhood's year of activities and its only fund-raising project, the proceeds of which are contributed to our synagogue and to the various communal and philanthropic projects which Sisterhood supports.

Following cocktails, hors d'oeuvres and a catered gourmet luncheon, Sisterhood members and their guests will be treated to an entertaining program.

Then there will be the drawing of raffles for valuable prizes from outstanding manufacturers. In addition, raffles will be sold for lunches and dinners at superior restaurants.

The purchase or sale of one booklet of ten (10) raffles for $70 insures your admission to the luncheon and the chance to win a valuable prize (single raffles are $7 each).

What Is Keeping The Sabbath Holy?

What do we mean by "keeping the Sabbath holy"? Drawing upon the tradition, we may say that to keep the Sabbath holy (kadosh) includes (in addition from abstaining from work) basically the following:

- Cleaning, arranging, and adorning one's home, one's wardrobe, and one's person-and preparing special meals-in advance of the Sabbath, in honor of the Sabbath.
- Providing for the needy in advance of the Sabbath; and inviting the stranger, the needy, the lonely, and the troubled to share in one's Sabbath.
- Welcoming the Sabbath with Kiddush and lighting of candles, and ushering it out with Havdalah.
- Studying Torah, individually or in groups.
- Eating festive meals, wearing special clothes, taking a leisurely walk, taking special Sabbath sleep and rest.
- Increasing one's understanding, appreciation, and enjoyment of the creations of the human spirit, such as music, literature, and the arts.
- Deepening the level of love and affection, of concern and care, of sharing and understanding among members of the household and friends.

Turning to God by praying the evening, morning, and afternoon services (with a congregation, if possible, or else privately), and by uttering the grace before and after meals in thankfulness and wonderment at the blessings of creation and the gift of rest; in gratitude for redemption from enslavement; in examination of conscience and request for forgiveness; in sympathy for human suffering and deprivation, and in resolve to aid in their alleviation; in renewal of the covenant-bond with the People Israel; and in petition for an increase in inner resources for life in this world and the world-to-come.

person. Also, please call the synagogue office to make your reservation for this evening.

Club Melamed is a low-key, safe, non-competitive "Jewish" way for young Jewish singles to meet in a pleasant, softly lighted atmosphere conducive to making new friends.

Do you know a young person who might benefit from such a social club? If so, have that person put on the mailing list by calling the synagogue office and giving his or her name and address!

The admission fees cover the expense of providing a light supper, dessert, wine, soft drinks, coffee and tea, and entertainment, if any.
